Engaged

Hello new fanfiction. If you want me to carry on and make it a story let me know or I will keep it as this.

It was write quick so might not be that good but I had Outlaw Queen feel so I had to write it. I have a Lana and Regina fan account on tumblr and twitter so if you want to follow me and give me ideas MillsEvilRegal is my name on both.

She looked at the clock, four PM. Another hour. Glances down at the paper work in front of her and back at the clock for what felt like hours ago, reality half four.

A few hours ago Regina had got a message from Robin, that he needed to see her near the forest when she finished work. Nothing else was said and Regina wondered why he had asked her to meet him, normally he would meet her at the office and take her home.

Five finally came; Regina stood from her desk, got her coat bag and left the office locking it.

She drove to the forest where she seen Robin, nothing looked different, he had not planned a night picnic like she had thought. He was just standing there looking normal, as normal as somebody standing in the woods.

Regina stepped out of the car and walked over to him.

"Why did you want me to meet you?" She asked and paused.

"Here."

"Turn around." He simply said.

Not trusting him, Regina gave him a look before turning around. She had no reason not to trust him. He was her life and she knew she was safe with him and he would never hurt her.

"Turn around." He said again after a few seconds.

Getting slightly annoyed at him telling her to turn around and then a few seconds later to turn around again, Regina turned angrily before a gasp was let out.

Stood there was Robin, and in his hands was a ring. A ring of their future a ring to show that they could be strong together. A ring that showed what they had lived through and still be together. A ring that showed who they were.

"I-"

He could not speak, seeing the happiness she showed left Robin speechless, and at that moment everything seemed perfect.

"Regina, you are my life, you are my heart. You know how good a thief I am but you are a greater thief as you stole my heart. When you are not with me my life is a darkness waiting for lightness. Nothing can describe how much I love you. And the baby inside you proves that, you said you could never have a baby. But you also said true love can break anything. Will you marry me?"

By this point there was tears in Reginas eyes.

A few days ago she had found out she was pregnant and now the man of her life was on one knee asking her to marry him. A nod, she agreed.

Now she was getting married.

Robin stood and placed the ring on her finger. A new chapter of their life beginning and happiness.
